Meyers Cuts Down a Fast One That Looked Like Homer for a Second.

BOSTON, Oct. 7.—As usual the opening game of a world's series began after the scheduled hour of 4 o'clock. After the first two innings had photographed Managers Carrigan and Robinson, three members of the national commission and four umpires, shore walked to the pitchers' box. Centerfielder Meyers stepped to the plate and the game was on at 2 o'clock.

The first ball pitched looked good to Meyers and he swung on it, lifting it high far behind the plate, which tell into Cody's mitt. There was a wild Boston shout. Daubert struck out and Stengel grounded out. Janvrin hit a single, then Lewis and Gardner advanced. Meyers stepped to the plate and the game was on at 2 o'clock.

There was a wild Boston shout. Daubert struck out and Stengel grounded out. Janvrin hit a single, then Lewis and Gardner advanced. Meyers stepped to the plate and the game was on at 2 o'clock.

Brooklyn took the lead in the fourth inning. Shore struck down a short one. Cutshaw was thrown out by Janvrin after the second baseman had snatched the ball. Meyers got his only single of the game when he drove a ball one to right. Olson got to first base for the third time on four balls. Shore sent a fly to Daubert and the stopper lifted a high one which Olson gathered in.

Torn Ball in Sun. Another foul play made Brooklyn turn at bat in the seventh. A short one. Cutshaw was thrown out by Janvrin after the second baseman had snatched the ball. Meyers got his only single of the game when he drove a ball one to right. Olson got to first base for the third time on four balls. Shore sent a fly to Daubert and the stopper lifted a high one which Olson gathered in.

Olson got to first base for the third time on four balls. Shore sent a fly to Daubert and the stopper lifted a high one which Olson gathered in.

Double-Killed Chance. Brooklyn got two men on the bases in the second, but a split double play killed chances of scoring. What about a runner at Hoblitzel who could not make it in time to throw out the runner? Cutshaw hit into the double play, Gardner stepped on his ground and Janvrin tagged out. Shore was held in the ninth. Mowrey walked and was left at first when Olson struck out.

Boston got those on in the half of the second, but was also unable to score. Scott opened by walking one and had balls. Gardner trying to sacrifice and down at went toward Cutshaw who crossed first. Walker singled down the left field foul line and another was able to play it up and both runners were safe. Scott snarl first. Meyers to Cutshaw, Lewis and Gardner advancing. Meyers stepped to the plate and Cody was purposely walked, lifting the bases. Pfeffer made the right guess, a short strike.

Homer almost a high and long by to center field. After hitting the ball, Meyers ran back and made a great leap on the foul line. Had the ball stopped away from him, it probably would have been a home run.

The Chief Fall.

Chief Meyers was an easy victim in Brooklyn's half of the third, grounding out. Shore to Hoblitzel. Marquard struck out. Meyers drove a single to center and was left at first, as the hard-hitting Gardner struck out for the second time on three pitched balls.

Boston batted her best run in the third after two were out. Janvrin struck out and Meyers dropped the third strike and threw the other out at first. The throw was a bad one and nearly got away from Daubert. It also was the second time that Janvrin had fanned. Walker also struck out (thousandth hit) in eight foul ball for three bases and came home when Lewis hit the first ball pitched down the left field line for a two base hit. Lewis took a walk and off comes and was caught by a perfect catch.

The first error of the game was recorded in Boston's half of the sixth. Olson made a mess of Gardner's easy grounder and the runner was safe. On the hit and run play, Gardner was forced at second by Scott, the play being Mowrey to Cutshaw, Scott went to second on the only passed ball of the game. Cody got to first base for the third time on four balls. Shore sent a fly to Daubert and the stopper lifted a high one which Olson gathered in.

Torn Ball Was Shortened. Another foul play made Brooklyn turn at bat in the seventh. A short one. Cutshaw was thrown out by Janvrin after the second baseman had snatched the ball. Meyers got his only single of the game when he drove a ball one to right. Olson got to first base for the third time and both runners were out. Gardner to Janvrin.

The last half of the seventh inning was yours to the Boston fans. Janvrin, first up, hit a beautiful two-bagger down past third base. Olson made his second error when he snatched Walker's grounder. Janvrin taking third. Cutshaw, anxious to make a double play, fumbled Hoblitzel's bouncer and Janvrin scored with great cheering. Walker took second on the play. Both runners advanced on Louis' sacrifice. Daubert to Cutshaw, Cutshaw ran in for Gardner's grounder and drove to the plate. Janvrin was out at third. Scott sent a long sacrifice fly to Stengel and Hoblitzel scored the third run of the inning. Cody did not wait for four balls on this trip to the plate but grounded out high to Wheat.

Left Ball in Sun. Another foul play made Brooklyn turn at bat in the eighth. Janvrin, first up, hit a beautiful two-bagger down past third base. Olson made his second error when he snatched Walker's grounder. Janvrin taking third. Cutshaw, anxious to make a double play, fumbled Hoblitzel's bouncer and Janvrin scored with great cheering. Walker took second on the play. Both runners advanced on Louis' sacrifice. Daubert to Cutshaw, Cutshaw ran in for Gardner's grounder and drove to the plate. Janvrin was out at third. Scott sent a long sacrifice fly to Stengel and Hoblitzel scored the third run of the inning. Cody did not wait for four balls on this trip to the plate but grounded out high to Wheat.

Shore opened the fifth by grounding out to Hoblitzel. Daubert to Janvrin, first up, hit a double to the left field, the center field fence. Meyers reached third but a faster runner scored home and scored a home run. Meyers hit a sharp grounder to Janvrin who threw him out while he held the indecisive catcher on third. Centerfielder Meyers hoisted a high ball to Shore.

Tried to Rally. The Superior tried to rally in the eighth, but another double play ended their chances. Meyers was thrown out by Scott. Johnson, batting for Marquard, singled to right field. Meyers hit a grounder through the pitcher's box which Shore deflected to Scott. Scott made a quick throw to

OLD MAN JINX
JOLTS AGGIES

Some Men Quit and Some Are Hurt of Still-water Stars.

ARE STILL HOPEFUL

Coach Griffith Will Save His First String Men for Texas.

Special to The World.

STILLWATER, Okla., Oct. 7.—Old Man Hard Luck landed his first body blow on the Oklahoma Aggie varsity this week by crippling or otherwise incapacitating seven of the first squad men. Coach Griffith, however, is not worrying because he has more than enough experienced men to form two Aggie teams if needed to fight Northwestern Normal clever at Stillwater Saturday.

Three of the seven will be out of the permanently for the remainder of this season. Aycock, speedy half-back of last year, has quit football because of his other college work. Kerr, a big Indian lineman, has a broken ankle, and Lawrence, a lousy lineman last year, has been declared ineligible because of his failure to carry successfully the required amount of classwork. Correll and McNeely, backfield men, are on the sick list; while Elliott, Walters and Morris are injured seriously.

Agle, the expect to see an arrangement in the opening game against the Rangers as follows:

First Choice Positions Second Choice
Cunningham RT RT
Forrestor RG RG
Walters RG RG
Guy LG LG
Buchart LG LG
Newton LT LT
Gallagher LE LE
Doss G G
Wheeler G Head, Hayes
Pierson F Scott, Elliott
McNelly F Wilson
Minor LH Elliott
Hacker LH Elliott
Scott RH Wilson
Wants to Pile Up Score.

Besides these twenty-odd first string players there are several other varsity eligibles, among whom are Ross, Whaley, Colglazier and Pierson. These four are probably better material than the others.

Coch Griffith has announced that it will not be necessary to pile up an overwhelming score against "Spot" Geyer's normalites, but rather to save his men for the first big game this season—that against the University of Texas at San Antonio October 13.

Judging by the scrimmage maneuvers of the varsity against the scrub, the freshman and the prep squads, the Aggies will use probably half and half open and old style football against Alva.

Geyer does the punting, while to the entire backfield falls the job of passing the pigskin in the aerial attacks. Walters before his injury was showing to great advantage as a drop kicker.

VINITA HI SCHOOL DEFEATED AFTON

The Stronger Team Had Little Trouble in Walking Off With the Score.

Special to The World.

AFTON, Okla., Oct. 7.—Vinita defeated the Afton high school here Saturday 13 to 7 before one of the largest crowds that has ever turned out to any athletic contest. Vinita got some 150 rooters with them and the rivalry between the rooters was nearly as keen as between the two teams playing. Vinita got both her scores on intercepted forward passes. Both times they intercepted the pass and downed Afton in a fast repetition to Vinita on carrying the ball by her inability to use the forward pass successfully lost her the game. The Afton high carried the ball most of the time and Vinita was compelled to punt on their fourth down more than half of the time they held the pigskin. Glass for Afton was by far the star of the game and carried the ball well besides very good spectacular tackling. Both teams played a good clean game with very little rag chewing and both seemed satisfied that the score went as deserved.

Rico Loses to Texas. AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 7.—In the hardest fought game in years Texas defeated Rice university today 10 to 2. Both teams scored safeties on blocked punts. Texas scored in the first half on a buck by Fredick and in the last quarter on a plunge by Waits. Straight football predominated. McFarland of Rice received a broken shoulder blade.

Navy Came Back. ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 7.—The navy after the rather disappointing first half, picked up steam and came back this afternoon and defeated Georgetown 13 to 7. The feature of the game was the work of Ingram, brother of two members of the coaching staff.

TO RUN SPECIAL FOR O. U. BATTLE

CAP MONTGOMERY WORKS TEAM HARD

Sooners Go Through Heavy Workout for the Kendall Game Next Saturday.

NORMAN, Okla., Oct. 7.—Captain Montgomery of the Oklahoma Sooners is whipping his squad into shape for the heavy ordeal of battling through the four strongest opponents in succession that Oklahoma will face this season. Next Saturday Oklahoma will meet Coach Sam McElroy's tribe from Henry Kendall's camp. Last year the Sooners triumphed over Kendall by one point after defeating all other opponents with larger degree of ease. Kendall supporters are confident and with Oklahoma Sooners playing a special waiting game, odds have mounted to 2 to 1 on Kendall. Coach Bonnie Owen is taking no chances and will have the university eleven in the best of condition for the Kendall battle, which takes place here October 14.

A special train carrying the Sooner eleven, the university band and one thousand students will go to Dallas October 21. The Texas Longhorns will strive to avenge their defeat at the hands of the Oklahoma eleven last year.
